A hand touches a ball on a seesaw. The seesaw is balanced with a block at one end and the ball at the other end, creating a lever system. The hand is applying force to the seesaw, affecting the balance and motion of the ball.